

ALL FOR THE YOUNG

Methodist Churches Celebrate
Children's Day.

HAD EXCELLENT PROGRAMS

The Programs in All Green-Joy
Memorial Church Exercises Postponed Until Next Sunday.

Yesterday was children's day in most of the Methodist churches of the city and in the Park congregational church. The profusion of flowers used in decorating the altars, and in many cases the whole churches exceeded anything ever before attempted in the city. Nature, too, smiled on the little ones and bright sunshine peered through the stained glass windows and with softened light fell upon nature's choicest products of field and fern of grove and garden. The rich fragrance of wild roses was everywhere and the delicious odors of wild flowers filled all the houses of worship. The little ones were out in the gayest costumes and took part in the exercises with a spirit that indicated how much these ceremonies impress them. The little songs may not have been perfect as to timbre or expression, but there was a something in the fresh young voices vastly more touching than the trained voices of artists.

Artistically Decorated.
In Division Street Methodist Episcopal church there was an endless variety of flowers, honey-suckle and fern and May flowers and thousands of others. There were also many potted plants and garden flowers.

The following program of music was rendered:
"Gloria in Excelsis," Concom—Miss Foot and Miss Jelliffe.
Tenor Solo—Mr. Murphy.
Sanctus (12th Mass.) Mozart.
"Teach Us O Lord, Kallioleisch—Miss Foot.

A program of songs and recitations was given by the children.

A Class Baptized.
In Second Street M. E. church there was an even greater abundance of flowers. Not only was the pulpit backed with them, but the windows ledges were filled with rich collections of flowers, ferns and vines.

The following program was presented by the Sunday school pupils:
Song by the school.
Scripture reading by the superintendent.

"Welcome," by Elva Hendershot.
"Happy Voices," song and recitation.
Baptismal exercises.
Singing, "Precious Jewels," by the school.
Graduating exercises.
Recitation, "Golden Keys," by Trixie Pierce.
Singing, "Sweet Bye and Bye," by the school.

A class of ten children were baptized during the exercises. In the evening another fine program was presented.

Taught Them Patriotism.
In Plainfield Avenue Church Mr. Frye, the pastor, followed the program presented by the local school of education of the church. The exercises took place in the evening. There were many flowers displayed, but the greater portion of the decorations were the national colors. A large cross on the pulpit was draped in red, white and blue, and festoons of the same colors hung from the ceiling. Each window held a group of flags. The central idea of the exercises was patriotism. On a banner back of the pulpit were the words "Christian education for Our Youth," "Religion, Education, Patriotism," "Patriotism is a Duty." The services consisted of recitations and songs.

In Ames M. E. Church.
At Ames Methodist Episcopal church on South Division street a great profusion of flowers was banded around the pulpit. The following program was given:

Song by the school.
Prayer.
Song by congregation.
Responsive reading.
Recitation by Vera Wing.
Song by Miss Duncan's class.
Recitation by Blanche Fox.
Song by infant class.
Recitation by Lillian Winters.
Duet by Pearl Fox and J. Duncan.
Recitation by Ruth Dunbar.
Song by the school.
Recitation by Belle Leach.
Song by Miss Ames' class.
Address by the pastor.
Song by May Ward.
Recitation by Jessie Bartlett.
Recitation by Susie Daily.

In William Denman's Church.
In East Street Methodist church the children are within easy reach of wild flowers, and the decorations were more extensive of wild flowers than in any other church. The program was as follows:

Organ voluntary.
Prisoners' No. 1, "With Holy Devotion."
Prayer.
Antiphon by the school, "Bless the Lord, Ye Nations."
Bible reading.
Song by the school, "Lift Up Thy Voice."
Recitation, "Blessing for Jesus."
Recitation, "The Sun's Revolution."
Singing by the school, "Holy Bible! Golden Treasure."
Reading by superintendent.
Recitation, "His Excellent Word."
Singing by school, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul."
Recitation, "Called by Thy Name."
Exercises by infant class.
Singing by infant class.
Offering, "The Wonderful Word."
Short address.
Singing by the congregation.
Benediction.

At Park Church.
Park congregational church was prettily and profusely decorated. The children of the Houseman street and Ottawa street missions joined with the members of the church Sunday school in celebrating the day. The Rev. William Evans, state superintendent of Sunday schools, delivered the address of the day, after which the Rev. Dan F. Bradley preached a Children's day sermon. He took for his subject "The Slave Girl of Damascus," and drew from it a pretty and interesting lesson on the benefit of the Bible. The services closed with the hymn, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." Laurens N. Reinhardt presented contributions to every member of the Sunday school who was present, and to the teachers of the various classes. About 600 children took part in the exercises.

REMEMBERED BY HIS PET.

A Boy's Pet Squirrel Recognizes Him After Months of Freedom.

Last year the little son of Walter Hughes of Union street had a pet red squirrel which was very tame and very much attached to the little boy. Early this spring the child was induced to give the squirrel its liberty. According to it was carried to a grove four or five blocks away from the house and was allowed to go free. Nothing was seen of the squirrel until one day last week when Mr. Hughes' son was playing with some other boys near the spot where the squirrel was liberated. The little red pet suddenly appeared on the ground near the child, scampered over him wildly, but would not suffer him to catch it. Whenever the child extended his hand to touch the squirrel it would run quickly away out of reach. What is remarkable about the story is that the squirrel would not approach any of the other boys, nor allow them to come very near to it.

WAR OF WOMEN.

Saginaw L. O. T. M. Expels Members Just Like Their Brothers.

SAGINAW, Mich., June 11.—The "war of the roses" pales into insignificance in comparison with the contest for supremacy in Saginaw hive, No. 17, L. O. T. M. There are two sets of rival officers, each of which poses as the powers that be, and it is said on good authority, that in order to secure possession of the hall on meeting nights some of the ladies have had their tea early in the afternoon and camped from 3 p. m. until long after dark at headquarters, holding the fort against all comers.

Last night there was a largely attended meeting held of members of the hive, and action was taken by which Mrs. Mary Maher, Mrs. Rosa B. Sutton, Mrs. Julia Allen and Miss May Biggam were expelled from the hive, the charges preferred being insubordinate conduct unbecoming to the members of the order, also having broken their obligations. Similar charges were preferred against Mrs. Melissa Welch, but she was exonerated by the hive, and reinstated. The ladies mentioned were cited to appear last night before an arbitration committee appointed by Hive No. 17, but denied the authority of the board, and refused to recognize it.

Following right on the heels of the above was the arrest of Mrs. Rosa Art on complaint of Mrs. Rosa Sutton, who charges her with criminal slander of the same nature as that charged against Mrs. Carrie Sparrow, previously published, and who was released on her own recognizance. Mrs. Art gave bonds in the sum of $100 for her appearance before Justice Perkins on June 21.

NEW INSANE ASYLUM.

Memorinee Will Undoubtedly Get It if Appearances Count.

MEMORINE, Mich., June 11.—There is little doubt, since Governor Rich and Secretary Storrie of the state board of charities and reform, have expressed themselves in its favor, that a site in Memorinee will be selected for a new insane asylum. A favorable tract of land containing forty acres and having a frontage on Green Bay of thirty-three acres has been secured about four miles north of the city.

The burglar shot by a Marinette policeman last week, and who gave the name of John Murphy, was Martin Gallagher, who has a mother living at Ionia, Mich., where the remains were shipped tonight by Marinette authorities.

New Michigan Postmasters.

Michigan postmasters appointed: Augusta, Kalamazoo county, V. G. Burdick, vice W. J. Cook, resigned; Cassville, Huron county, L. S. Johnson, vice J. McKinley, removed; Duck Lake, Calhoun county, J. H. Franklin, vice W. H. Leonard, resigned; Galesburg, Kalamazoo county, H. Dale Adams, vice Ella L. Bush, removed; Lake City, Muskegon county, G. S. Stuart, vice C. C. Lewis, resigned; Linden, Genesee county, J. B. Mosher, vice A. B. Hyatt, removed; Miller, Montcalm county, Wallace Taylor, vice Alfred Stone, resigned; Schoolcraft, Kalamazoo county, Gilmore Campbell, vice W. H. Snyder, removed.

One Tariff No Better.

ISHERING, Mich., June 11.—The week has witnessed a number of small sales of iron ore, but no large transactions. Prices seem to be established for the season at 30 cents to 50 cents under the figures of a year ago. Rumors proposing the starting up of the big mines of the Colby syndicate seem to be unfounded, and, instead of resuming, the chances are that the Aurora, the only mine of the group now being worked, may be closed down also in a few weeks unless sales can be made. The only comforting feature of the situation to producers is the continuation of low lake freights.

Murdered Man's Money.

RAY CITY, Mich., June 11.—The murder of John Lunnitz, which occurred in December, 1891, was recalled yesterday by the arrest of Stephen Stephanski on a charge of assault and battery preferred by his wife, who was formerly Mrs. Lunnitz. Lunnitz left considerable property and cash which Stephanski wanted the woman to give to him. Assault grew out of her refusal to do so. Stephanski was fined $12 and his wife says she has left him for good.

What we are most careless of is that of which we have plenty. We are awfully careful of the spring water which we pay 5c a bottle for, but the spigot in the kitchen runs to waste twice as much as is actually used. The value of the time of our youth—which is as the morning of a day—is lost, because we do not appreciate it until too late. And this error is repeated today in many an office and bank. We do not refer to the "Early Bird," for that is a time when the worms are more plentiful, and with the early bird it is simply a case of appetite. There is nothing in which there is more waste than the morning's time in the average business place. All of which is a prelude to show how that which is usually wasted may be converted into value to those who are going to the Fair. You may say this is an advertisement. We assure you it is—but its peculiarity is that it is true, as all our advertisements are. Their value to us is in their worth to you. We cannot profit by doing a thing unless it is profitable to our patrons. Abandon ye the effort to utilize this fleeting period and effort for business; take the Chicago & West Michigan "Flyer," which leaves at 7:15 a. m., and the reward follows in a full afternoon at the Fair, for the train will deposit you at the Midway Plaisance at noon. When night shall have arrived you will have seen all the Midway Plaisance attractions that will specially interest you. Lend us your assistance that we may continue your good service. GEO. DE HAYES, Genl. Pass. Agent.

AT THE FAIR IS MONEY.

Murdered Man's Money. RAY CITY, Mich., June 11.—The murder of John Lunnitz, which occurred in December, 1891, was recalled yesterday by the arrest of Stephen Stephanski on a charge of assault and battery preferred by his wife, who was formerly Mrs. Lunnitz.
